SECOND YALTA PARLEY RUNS INTO A SNAG

Moscow (AP)—The Foreign Ministry today turned down requests of foreign correspondents to be allowed to travel to the Crimea to cover Yugoslav President Tito's visit.

London (AP)—Nikita Khrushchev was reported in trouble with some Soviet leaders today and may be seeking the support of Yugoslav President Tito for his policies of de-Stalinization and easing up on the East European satellites.

Press reports here and in Austria said a new struggle for power inside the Kremlin was back of the surprise trip by Tito to the Soviet Union in company with Khrushchev, the first secretary of the Soviet Communist party.

Without a word of explanation, Tito took off from Belgrade yesterday with Khrushchev, who had spent eight days in seclusion with the Yugoslav leader. With some of his closest lieutenants, Tito was reported at the Black Sea resort of Yalta today.

Khrushchev was said to be planning to take him to the nearby Crimean resort of Sochi to see Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev and Foreign Minister Dmitri Shepilov.

The reports here and in Vienna said Khrushchev at last had been caught in a squeeze by a Stalinist bloc in the Politburo and Soviet army chiefs.

Foreign Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov and former Premier Georgi Malenkov were reported to believe that Khrushchev had gone (Turn to Page Eight)

Eisenhower Hales Progress in Aiding Rural Development

Washington (AP)—President Eisenhower today hailed what he called "major progress" in aiding small and low-income farmers through a rural development program.

An interdepartmental committee handling the program, under the chairmanship of True D. Morse, undersecretary of agriculture, presented its first annual report to Eisenhower.

The report said efforts to aid more than a million farm families who need to adjust to modern trends are under way in half the states.

Eisenhower said in a statement complementing the group's work: "Initial success of this program is a challenge to all of us in the year ahead. We have a solid foundation to build upon. The rural development program is the first truly broad-based attack on the problems of low-income farmers."

The President said every one of the main recommendations made by the committee of government officials in April, 1955, has been acted upon, including expanded technical aid for families on small farms, new job opportunities, training in nonagricultural skills, research, and community action in rural areas.

Harrisburg (AP)—A preliminary survey today indicated Pennsylvanians may have turned out in record numbers to make themselves eligible to vote in the Nov. 6 general election.

The same Associated Press survey of county election officials and Republican and Democratic registration leaders showed that Democrats were continuing to make inroads into the Republican majority.

The survey covered 55 out of the 67 counties. No figures were available since the registration deadline expired Sept. 17 from Clearfield, Crawford, Elk, Erie, Lancaster, Lebanon, Monroe, Montgomery, Montour, Schuylkill, Wayne and York counties.

Officials figured won't be complete until mid-October or later. The all-time high in Pennsylvania's registration occurred in the 1952 presidential election. Nearly 5,342,000 voters were on the rolls of whom 3,130,078 were

Mercer County Truck Driver To Go on Trial Here Monday In Tidioute Bank Holdup Case

The biggest court trial to hit Warren since the celebrated Moon case will get underway at 10 a. m. Monday when a jury will be chosen to hear evidence against Norman Swartz, Tidioute bank holdup suspect.

The 22-year-old trucking and grading contractor from West Middlesex, near Mercer, has stoutly maintained his innocence since arrested April 19 of this year.

Defense Attorney is Marc L. Marks of Sharon who has a reputation as a top courtroom performer. Local defense counsel is C. Henry Nicholson.

Warren County District Attorney Myer A. Kornreich will handle prosecution for the Common-wealth.

August term of Grand Jury returned a true bill against Swartz. He is charged with armed robbery in the $11,776 gunpoint holdup of Tidioute Branch of the Warren National Bank on August 18, 1955. Swartz pleaded innocent to the charge at a hearing on April 30. Maximum sentence upon conviction would be 20 years.

District Attorney Kornreich will attempt to prove that the accused stole a car the day before the robbery, drove that to the bank about noon, showed a gun into the face of bank manager R. Krug Cyphert, and demanded cash. Then the robber fled, switched cars and disappeared.

However, five persons have sworn that Swartz was with them in Mercer County the day of the holdup and at the time of the (Turn to Page Eight)

Hit-Skip Driver Caught After Striking Officer

Pittsburgh (AP)—A patrolman was knocked down by a hit-run driver early today, lost the feeling car in a bullet-punctured auto pursuit and then arrested the driver after tracing his license number, police reported.

Patrolman Angelo Takos, 26, said he was giving a motorist directions to Blairsville when the hit-run car knocked him down in the West End.

Takos said he commandeered the Blairsville-bound car and took after the hit-run driver, firing three shots in a five-block chase. He lost the car but got the license number.

Arrested at his home in Ingram was Arthur C. Jones, 48. He was charged with driving under the influence of liquor, assault and battery with a car and hit-run driving. Takos was treated at a hospital for a leg injury. He said in all the excitement he didn't get the name of the driver en route to Blairsville.

Two British Servicemen Are Killed by Cypriots

Nicosia, Cyprus (AP)—Two British servicemen were killed with bullets in the back along Nicosia's "murder mile" today. A third was wounded but drew a gun and returned the fire.

The deaths brought to 49 the total of British servicemen killed since the EOKA underground 18 months ago began its campaign of violence against British rule of the Mediterranean island colony.

The three Britons were sauntering down Ledra Street in civilian clothes when a group of men opened fire on them from behind. The gunmen escaped.

Stevenson To Deliver Radio Speech Tonight

En Route With Stevenson (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson heads into Indiana and Wisconsin today after firing away at what he termed Republican "chorus line" campaign techniques.

The Democratic presidential nominee scheduled a midday speech at Monument Circle in Indianapolis. Aides said he planned to swat at the Eisenhower administration again on the cost of living, which he has declared is "higher today than it has ever been."

From Indianapolis Stevenson arranged to fly on to Milwaukee for a nationwide television address tonight.

The speech will be carried by CBS starting at 6:30 p. m., CST. Stevenson got a rip-roaring reception last night in addressing a campaign rally in St. Louis, where he said the Soviet Union is "on schedule" with economy-expansion plans "to pull level with America by 1965 and ahead by 1970."

Calling for campaign discussion of whether the United States economy "is expanding speedily enough to meet essential demands," Stevenson added:

"We must face squarely and responsibly the prospect that 20 years from now, if present rates of development continue, the basic balance of productive power in the world may well have swung away from the side of freedom."

At St. Louis Stevenson got by far the noisiest and most enthusiastic welcome of this eight-day campaign tour he started last Saturday.

Stevenson called his talk a "lecture". Stevenson prefaced his criticism (Turn to Page Eight)

License Granted to Commerce Oil by Jamestown, R. I.

Jamestown, R. I. (AP)—The council of this community last night granted a license to the Commerce Oil Refining Corp. of Warren, Pa., to build a 30 million dollar refinery.

Although the license was granted there are other obstacles which must be cleared before construction begins.

The Pennsylvania firm must still obtain permission from the Army Engineers Corp and the Civil Aeronautics Admin. to build the refinery's docks and cracking towers. The proposed refinery would be in the north end of the island the town is built on.

The First Naval District in Boston has served notice it will oppose construction of the refinery on the ground that docks and cracking towers would interfere with torpedo testing operations off Gould Island and with the landing pattern of Navy aircraft at Quonset Naval Air Station.

Soviet Ballet Troupe To Make Trip to London

Moscow (AP)—The Bolshoi Theatre ballet troupe, one of the world's greatest, is going to London after all, despite British refusal to drop shoplifting charges against a Soviet woman dancer.

The Russians previously had threatened to cancel the appearance, which will be the famed company's first in the West. A spokesman for the Ministry of Culture told a reporter today that one plane load of dancers would leave by air tomorrow and another on Sunday. The troupe has 120 members including top ballerina Galina Ulanova.

47 BOLIVIAN SEEK ASYLUM IN ARGENTINA

Salta, Argentina, (AP)—Forty-seven bedraggled but defiant Bolivian political prisoners, interned here after seizing their captors' plane in flight, pressed an appeal today for asylum in Argentina.

Argentine authorities conferred with Bolivia's ambassador in Buenos Aires and issued a guarded statement that the situation was being studied.

The fugitives, including leaders of the socialist Falange party, main opposition to Bolivia's government overpowered their guards over Bolivia yesterday while being flown to a concentration camp near La Paz. One of the prisoners took over the controls and flew the government airliner, a four-engine DC 4, the 450 miles to Salta.

"We preferred death in an airplane to life in a concentration camp," one of the group told reporters at Salta airport, 170 miles south of the Bolivian frontier.

The group included business men, students, a journalist, an accountant and several ranchers. They were arrested after last Saturday's antigovernment riots that caused four deaths in La Paz.

The government blamed the Falange for instigating the uprising. Observers said, however, that the real causes were high prices and food shortages.

Still dressed in their grimy prison uniforms, the escapees chatted with reporters at the airport before military authorities ordered them interned at the 5th Army Division headquarters near Salta.

They denounced the regime of Bolivian President Hernan Siles Zuazo and described as phony the amnesty proclaimed by the government before this year's presidential election.

Lt. Col. Andres Saucedo Lanza, former Bolivian military attaché in Chile who helped plot the escape, said he and many others had returned to Bolivia after the amnesty proclamation only to be arrested.

Research Craft Valued At $3,000,000 Crashes

Edwards, Calif. (AP)—The speed and altitude record-holding Air Force plane X2, rocketing above 45,000 feet, developed unexplained trouble and crashed yesterday. The pilot was killed.

The needle-nose, swept-wing research craft, which had sped 1,900 miles an hour and climbed to a reported 128,000 feet on previous flights, ended its spectacular career in shattered wreckage on the desert 20 miles east of Edwards Air Force Base.

The body of the pilot, Capt. Milburn G. Apt., 32, still was strapped in the capsule cockpit section. He had apparently made no effort to escape by ejecting himself.

The three million dollar plane was one of two designed for research at supersonic speeds and extreme altitudes.

Bail Continued for Man Accused of Kidnap-Rape

Seranton (AP)—Federal Judge John W. Murphy has continued bail at $25,000 for Harry J. Bloomer of Youngstown, Ohio, who pleaded innocent yesterday at his arraignment on charges of kidnapping and rape.

Judge Murphy also delayed setting a trial date when defense counsel Kingsley Jarvis asked for the opportunity to study the case further.

Bloomer was arrested August 14 in the kidnapping of 17-year-old Betsy Jane Long from a home near Shickshinny where she was baby sitting. She escaped from her assailant in western New York the next day and told police Bloomer twice criminally assaulted her.

SHOPLIFTING KING UNCOVERED HERE

At time of going to press today Chief of Police M. Evan was heading a police investigation questioning three women alleged to be involved in widespread shoplifting in stores in Warren. It was not known whether charges had been preferred, but it is understood that a large amount of stolen property had been assembled at the police station.

North Warren, Russell and Youngsville Departments To Provide Emergency Service

As the deadline, midnight of September 30th, draws nearer, for the discontinuance of ambulance duty by the undertakers of Warren, local citizens regard, with no little apprehension, the fact that no steps have yet been taken, either by borough council, or some other organization, to secure this vital service, after that date.

Nearby towns, Youngsville, North Warren, and Russell, have taken advantage of the lethargy of local departments, and, with the safety and well-being of their communities in mind, are negotiating to purchase the conveyances from morticians, so that transportation to and from the hospital will be certain at any and all times, and they will be insured against interruption of service.

Robert Mahan, chief of the ambulance committee of the North Warren Volunteer Fire Department, in a statement to the Times-Mirror today, said that the department would complete negotiations this afternoon for buying an ambulance from the Templeton Funeral Home, and starting midnight, September 30th, will take over the job. Authorized drivers will man the car, a 1952 Buick Flexible, which is fully equipped with a cot, chair, oxygen tanks and all necessary first aid materials. Eventually, the drivers will receive first aid instruction.

New Rate Schedule At Hospital Given Approval of Board

Increased rates for operating and delivery rooms at Warren General Hospital, approved by the board in its Thursday session, will become effective next Monday and are designed to align local rates with those of nearby communities.

Operating room charges include a $5 increase for the first hour of use for major, minor, or tonsil and adenoid operations. In the major class, the new rate is $30 for the first hour and $5 for each additional half-hour; minor rates, $15 for the first hour and $5 per half-hour thereafter; T and A, $15. Delivery room charge goes from $10 to $20.

The board also approved a disaster program to inform employees of their responsibilities in case of any kind of emergency, a program required by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals.

Given approval was a proposal of the American Appraisal Company for a study of all hospital buildings and contents for insurance purposes. Administrator Joseph Williamson indicating this plan will also provide a valuable equipment ledger.

The building and grounds committee reported blueprints of the old maternity building under study with a view to utilizing this now vacant structure.

Mr. Williamson informed the board hospital occupancy for August was 84%, an all-time high for the month and an increase from 67% one year ago. Average daily census in August of this year was 118 patients, he stated.

Sportsmen Staging "Float Trip" Down The Allegheny River

Harrisburg (AP)—Four groups of sportsmen and state officials today started a three-day float trip down the Allegheny, Juniata, Delaware and the Susquehanna rivers.

One group left about 10 this morning from the gravel pit in the Allegheny River behind the Warren County Highway Department barns in Starbuck.

Present in this particular contingent were, among others, Hal Harrison, the Erie outdoor columnist, and John Mock of Pittsburgh Press. Ken Corey, fish warden, was also accompanying the group. In each group were representatives of the Pennsylvania Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs, the Pennsylvania Outdoor Writers Association, the State Fish and Game Commissions and the Department of Forests and Waters.

The groups will search out potential new public access along the four rivers. The trips were expected to show the quality of big river fishing available in Pennsylvania and demonstrate float technique.

The Fish Commission said also the trips will "serve in some measure to direct attention away from the more costly trout program and toward the warm water species that are relatively more abundant."

Nixon Says Labor Vote Not Special Property of Demos

Cincinnati, O. (AP)—Vice President Nixon today said Democrats regard organized labor as their "special property, as something to manipulate and manage," and as "a private preserve, for their private exploitation."

He predicted that "a majority of union members, as well as other wage earners, in the country will vote for President Eisenhower in 1956 . . . because they know that despite all the talk they have heard to the contrary, the actions of this administration have been good for labor."

Nixon's labor views were embodied in a speech prepared for delivery here this afternoon. Excerpts were released at Nashville, Tenn., upon the Vice President's arrival to urge Tennessee's predominantly Democratic electorate to support the Republican administration as it did in 1952.

He was greeted at Nashville by what he described as "the best and biggest airport demonstration" of his campaign trip. Some 300 persons, waving Eisenhower-Nixon banners, cheered as Nixon and his wife stepped from the plane.

Nixon chose Cincinnati as the site of his first public speech on labor during the current campaign because it was the home of the late Sen. Robert A. Taft, co-author of the Taft-Hartley labor relations law.

Warren Boy in Key Position With CBS TV in Hollywood

A Warren boy who has always been interested in radio and television work is now associated in a key position with CBS television as it will launch next month the most ambitious series of dramatic programs in the history of the art.

Tony Vescio is one of 23 Columbia Broadcasting System press agents working out of Television City in Hollywood, California. It is the job of these men to take the new "Playhouse 90"—a weekly hour and one half drama series—and give it a glorious advance billing in trade and slick publications across the country.

Once afloat, the program will run on its own merits with strategic and subtle presaging, but launching "Playhouse 90" and sustaining it in the public eye is a multi-million dollar gamble being taken by CBS this fall.

KEFAUVER IS LATE ARRIVING AT BRADFORD

Tail of the Adlai Stevenson-Estes Kefauver electioneering comet swept through this area today, with a morning appearance at Erie and a later landing expected at Bradford-McKean Airport.

Democratic vice presidential candidate Estes Kefauver and entourage, including Governor George M. Leader, kept more than a 1,000 pennant-swinging partisans waiting over an hour at Bradford Airport.

Expected at 11 a. m., the airport control center reported at noon that the "Estes Is Ecstas" candidate was still shaking hands at Erie.

Once he and other Democratic candidates had touched down at Bradford, Art White of Warren, business representative of the International Association of Machinists, was expected to present a $1,500 campaign contribution to U. S. Senatorial candidate from Pennsylvania, Joseph Clark. The sum represented the contributions of 70,000 machinists in the state and was given under the auspices of Machinists Non-Partisan Political League of IAM, according to White.

Erie (AP)—Senator Estes Kefauver said today the Eisenhower administration has "gambled" with the life of the nation and Western civilization in its handling of world affairs.

"For four years," the Democratic vice presidential candidate said, "we have seen the present administration take us to the brink of war again and again, and boast of it."

Calling for a halt to a diplomacy he described as based on "threats of force and the lure of dollars," Kefauver said in a speech prepared for a rally here:

"To achieve peace let us turn once more to the methods of peace. Let us once again turn on the beacon light of American freedom and good will."

15-Year-Old Youth Is Held as Suspect In Mercer Killing

Mercer (AP)—Police investigating the slaying of a 43-year-old divorcee must show cause why they should continue to hold a 15-year-old boy for questioning.

Acting on a petition by the boy's attorney, David W. Kepner, Judge Herman M. Rodgers of Mercer County set a hearing for late today on whether the boy is being unjustly held.

Police have declined to identify the youth. Criminal charges have not been placed against him since he was brought in Monday for questioning in connection with the death of Mrs. Grace Reckhart of Sandy Lake.

Mrs. Reckhart's body was found last Saturday in the house where she lived alone. Her throat had been slashed.

Elk Lodges in the Nation To Observe "Newspaper Week"

Elk lodge throughout the country will observe National Newspaper Week October 1-8 to demonstrate the Elks' continuing support of the nation's free press. Warren Lodge will join the order's 1,766 lodges in a country-wide tribute to the men and women who staff America's hometown newspapers.

National Newspaper Week is sponsored annually by Newspaper Association Managers, Inc. The order of Elks has participated in the observance as a patriotic program each year since 1949.

Fred L. Bohn, of Zanesville, O., grand exalted ruler of the Elks and a former newspaper editor, has requested every Elks lodge to observe National Newspaper Week to show its "unwavering support of the press in its constant endeavor to maintain our freedom, which has brought us the abundance that blesses our country—an abundance that is spiritual as well as material."

Mr. Bohn, in his letter to lodges throughout the country, also said that life in our community—economic, civic and social—depends in large measure on the press for its vitality and continued growth. The theme for this year's observance, "Your Newspaper—Freedom's Key to Better Living," gives one very good reason why Elks should support this program."

State Planning To Expand Diagnostic Service to Animals

Harrisburg (P)—State Agriculture Secretary D. R. William L. Henning says he will appoint a committee to study possible poultry diagnostic service to include larger farm animals.

Henning said he was asked to name the study group at a meeting with representatives of some 30 statewide livestock producers.

The agriculture secretary said he will name the committee "in the near future."

Through its Bureau of Animal Industry the State Department of Agriculture for the past two years has maintained five regional laboratories where poultry pathologists identify diseases of poultry specimens brought to them by farmers of the area, Henning explained.

A central animal and poultry laboratory maintained by the bureau near Harrisburg also does diagnostic work on larger animals.

But, he said, farmers and veterinarians say it is too far and takes too long to send specimens from remote sections of the state.

A limited amount of large animal work is done at the Chester County New Bolton Center of the University of Pennsylvania.

The new proposal is to determine the need for providing facilities, including veterinarians skilled in diagnostic work on horses, cattle, sheep and swine at the regional laboratories, including New Bolton Center.

Other labs are located at University Park, Butler, Tunkhannock and Doylestown.

Billy Graham Is Making Plans For New York Crusade

New York (P)—If Billy Graham's crusade proceeds according to schedule next spring, New York "will be the most prayed for spot on earth."

At a dinner this week sponsored by the Billy Graham Crusade Committee, the evangelist said "we are in the fourth great spiritual awakening in America, but this great awakening has left New York City virtually untouched."

He plans an eight-week crusade beginning next May, featuring a series of spiritual meetings in Madison Square Garden in the evenings and at one of the baseball parks on Sundays.

During the crusade more than 100,000 people will pray for the big city. They've already signed up, said Dr. Graham, and "this city will be the most prayed for spot on earth."

But—"we're not coming here to clean up New York. We're coming to get the people to dedicate themselves to God and then send them

O YOU KID, 23 SKIDOO!—This was the scene at the intersection of Hazel street and Pennsylvania avenue, the day the General Joseph Warren monument was dedicated. We selected this particular picture because it shows such an excellent likeness of what was laughingly called an automobile. Don't laugh. It really was an elegant thing in its day, and if you had one just like it today, it would be worth its weight in gold. May we suggest that you browse through the seldom-used, cobweb-festooned recesses of your barns and garages, and see if you can come up with something like it for the big parade to be held October 6th in conjunction with "Old Fashioned Days"? A horse and buggy, or surrey, or coach, or even an old hack, would be acceptable too, and there will be prizes in both the horse and car categories. PRAYER FOR TRAFFIC SAFETY

Greenwich, Conn., at the close of this month, is to launch a crusade for traffic, which in the opinion of The Franklin News-Herald, may set a pattern for the whole nation. Sherburne Prescott, chairman of the board of the city's safety council, entertained 22 clergymen at his home and outlined a program that has since been given the blessing of Ned H. Dearborn, president of the National Safety Council.

Mr. Prescott is convinced that the ministers of all our churches can arouse "a spirit of love, courtesy and consideration" in the drivers of their congregations which would go far in cutting down accidents. The crusade would be based on the Fifth Commandment, "Thou shalt not kill."

He said he would not presume to tell the ministers what to say to their congregations, but he suggested a "Safety Prayer" of his own composition:

"Almighty God, our Heavenly Father, we humbly beseech Thee to look down upon us and guide us safely on the highways today.

"Instill in us Thy spirit of love and consideration for our fellowmen, so that our actions may follow Thy light, and with Thy help we may lessen the loss of life by accidents.

"We seek Thy infinite understanding and mercy. Amen."

Jack Cluett, who is president of the Safety Council in Greenwich, put it this way: "People should begin to drive as though God was sitting in the seat next to them."

Said Ned Dearborn, who is a Crawford County native: "This religious crusade can very well be the pattern for similar action elsewhere in the country. I'm going to watch it like a hawk."

THE EXPENDABLE LEAF

Says The New York Times, editorially: So we come to the autumnal equinox, and by the clock of the stars today is fall. And fall is as simple, as direct in its meaning, as it sounds; fall is the time of the falling leaf, the opposite of spring, when new blade and fragile leaf and blossom spring from root and bud. Fall, the end of a season's growth and the return of the leaf to the soil from which it sprang, its brief purpose fulfilled.

Thus always in any fortunate land of changing seasons; and thus, in our favored latitudes, fall comes with its blaze of color. The maple and the oak, the sassafras, the sour and sweet gums, the sumac, the poplar, the wild cherry, the birch—all come into a colorful glory that rivals spring itself. It is almost as though there were celebration of work done, a task completed, for the leaves some days ago had finished their assignment in the economy of the trees. The leaf now is expendable; but in its going it is to be touched with magnificence, its sugars, its acids, its obscure elements turned to pigments by the same sun that engined the summer-long manufacture of food for the tree in every chlorophyll-green leaf.

The color comes. A maple at the turn of the road flaunts a crimsoned branch. Rust creeps through the tops of the elms. A touch of gold is there on the brittle old poplar. Leaves that whispered a month ago now rustle in their crispness, hint of the sound they will make, windblown down the country road and the city street, in the days just ahead. The fall wind, and the fallen leaf, the color of fall itself and the voice of the changing season.

WILL YOU BE IN CHURCH SUNDAY?

A glance at the special Church Page Notes in today's issue will provide reason a-plenty why every individual should make a special effort to be in attendance at Sunday morning church school and worship services.

Majority of the churches in town will be having Rally Day exercises, Promotion Day ceremonies and Attendance Award presentations, and all parents are urged to share in their children's pride by being on hand for these special occasions.

THOUGHTS FOR TODAY

For it is sanctified by the word of God and prayer.—1 Timothy 4:5.

Prayer is to religion what thinking is to philosophy. To pray is to make religion.—Novalis.

Familiar Road

Here and There

Back in March, 1934, when the famous Babe Zaharias played against the HyVis Oil basketball team, when she was known as Babe Didrikson, before her marriage to the noted wrestler, Warren had a plenty of basketball, bowling and other sports. As stated in another article on the sport page the Didrikson All Americans defeated the locals in the game on the Beatty court by a score of 30 to 26. The borough boasted a number other floor teams. As a matter of fact seven teams were operating in the City League composed of five representing the Merchants, Times-Mirror, National Transit, Hoff Business College, State Hospital, Baird Tire Shop and YMCA Seniors. The Warren High School, one of the best in the history of the Blue and White was composed of Wolfe and Craft at forward; Check, center; Curren and Antico, guards, and it is noted that they had defeated Bradford High in that city by a score of 24 to 22, in a contest which was described by the sports writer in this manner: "Warren High school cagers gained one of the sweetest victories of the entire season when they turned back the Bradford quintet by a score of 24 to 22. The fact that the Paigens had previously beaten the Dragons here gave them the edge, but the Blue and White put up a battle which could not be denied." In bowling back in 1934 there was a City League, Elks League, Church League and a few others, including a Ladies League, which was operating with afternoon matches on the Elk alleys. In the City League were such teams as North Warren, B. & C. Smokes, South Side Market, Nation-Wide Stores, Post Office Garage and Warren Co. Ins. The 1934 spring primaries found the following candidates already at work in March—L. E. Chapman for state senator; A. W. Mumford for assembly; Clyde W. Elder, of Sheffield, for assembly; W. F. Chinger, for assembly; C. R. McNeal for state committeeman, D. J. Driscoll, of St. Marys, for Congress, G. G. McGill, of Oil City, for state senator Thad Lawson was announcing the appearance and Antico, guards, and it is noted that they had defeated Bradford High in that city by a score of 24 to 22, in a contest which was described by the sports writer in this manner: "Warren High school cagers gained one of the sweetest victories of the entire season when they turned back the Bradford quintet by a score of 24 to 22. The fact that the Paigens had previously beaten the Dragons here

It was a pleasure, indeed, to have an opportunity to chat again the other day with Roy H. Grove, who has been a Bradford resident since 1935 after serving as district manager of the Bell Telephone Company with offices in Warren for eight years beginning in 1927. A rather complete biography of Grove was printed Thursday, but it contained no reference to the fact that he has been known to resort to prose and poetry to express himself. One of his samples has just come to hand. Printed under the heading "Now I Remember" it says:

Born in the gay nineties of early Dutch stock,
His lineage was good but his head like a rock.
As I remember, at times he had blood in his eye,
But his name... I cannot remember, and why?

I remember Bill, Walt, Harriet, Jessie and Sig.
But the punchy old poke with denture and wig.
At present time I suppose he's somewhat frail,
And no longer able to hit the long, long trail.

He drove through rain, sleet, ice and snow,
Over forty years for the company you know.
He sailed over mountains and in many a dell,
To make friends galore for dear old ma Bell.

I met him here, there and most everywhere,
And kidded him about the old gray mare.

For he told me of his army steed named Maze,
That he rode in the dear old cavalry days.

Somewhat of an athlete too, when in his prime,
But I suppose by now he is in another clime.
And serving the King as he promised so frail,
When he took his foot off the old brass rail.

His face and slow gait I can never forget,
But his name... it makes me fret and fret.
It was very short and rhymed with toy and boy,
Oh, now I remember... it was Roy.

Trooping Through House Ruled Out at Gettysburg

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) —

Some of the 500 Republican leaders from all over the U.S. — invited up to the Eisenhower farm near Gettysburg, Pa., for the campaign opener — went home kind of disappointed.

Principally the women. They hadn't been invited inside the house to see the interior decoration color scheme, whether there was wall-to-wall carpeting and what kind of drapes there were at the windows.

The whole crowd was kept out in the stubble in the field east of the house. They were kept off the lawn by an electric fence.

The closest inspection permitted was through a printed picture booklet showing views of the farm, and the outside and inside of the house. Every guest got one as a souvenir. That night the books were on sale to tourists at the Gettysburg Hotel.

WHAT A CANDIDATE for the presidency has to put up with when he goes after the job, the hard way, is indicated by what is described as Gov. Adlai Stevenson's record day so far. He covered 2,700 miles in 22 hours, with five meetings.

The day began at 5 a.m. in Santa Fe, N. Mex. He went by car to Albuquerque for a breakfast meeting. Then by air to Portland, Ore., Bonneville Dam and Vancouver, Wash. for other meetings. Finally a flight to Sioux City, Ia. He worked on speeches during the night flight, arriving at 3 a.m., still going strong, but not quite finished with his text for the first meeting that day.

UNLIKE STEVENSON, Democratic vice presidential candidate Estes Kefauver does most of his sleeping on plane, between speeches. This is the secret of his strength for continuous campaigning. When Kefauver gets on a plane he first takes off his coat, then his shoes. He puts on soft slippers which he carries in his brief case, loosens his tie, then dons a black mask that fits closely over the bridge of his nose and shuts all light from his eyes. He leans back in his seat and he's asleep—like that. He awakens naturally as the plane comes down for his next stop, rested and in plenty of time to spruce up for his welcoming committee.

EVER SINCE President Truman set the pattern in 1948, Democrats have tried to discount the accuracy of national political polls. It's much the same story this year. The Gallup poll on April 19 showed 61 per cent for Stevenson, 37 per cent undecided. The September 8 poll showed 52 per cent for Eisenhower-Nixon, 41 per cent Stevenson-Kefauver, 7 per cent undecided. The Roper poll made it 48 to 41, with 11 per cent undecided. The Democratic line is that this margin of difference will continue to shrink in national polls between now and election day, but never show Stevenson-Kefauver in the lead, because the sample isn't big enough. The Democrats therefore put their reliance on state and local polls—like the Minnesota poll which showed the two parties even with 47 per cent of the vote and 6 per cent undecided—and on actual early election results. In Maine, the Democrats won a governorship and a congressman. In Washington state primary, Magnuson ran ahead of Langlie for senator.

Resolutions Adopted by WCTU at Annual Convention Held in Tidioute

Holding their annual gathering at Tidioute, Warren County WCTU members adopted the following resolutions presented by a committee comprised of Mrs. George L. Johnson, Mrs. John Trauffer, and Miss Edith Langdale:

"Whereas We, the members of the Warren County Woman's Christian Temperance Union met in the eighty-second annual convention in the Tidioute Methodist church September 20, 1956, do acknowledge our dependence upon Divine guidance, as we try to meet the issues of our day. Keeping in mind our slogan, 'Go Set a Watchman', may each one of us be more diligent in performing our task as watchmen.

"Therefore, be it resolved:

"(a) That we observe the noon tide prayer and urge that each local union spend ten minutes in prayer at the beginning of each meeting

"(b) That we urge the churches to alert their membership to the magnitude and far-reaching influence of the alcohol beverage interests so that each will take a positive stand for total abstinence, and educate others for similar commitments.

"(c) That we continue to oppose any bills in the National or State legislature that would tend to weaken the State or National control of the liquor industry and the gambling syndicates, i. e., liquor sales on Sunday, or in parks, public mutual betting on horse races or bingo, etc.

"(d) That we urge people in authority to enforce laws regarding driving and drinking.

"(e) That we urge people in authority to enforce laws regarding driving and drinking.

"(f) That we voice our objection to the objectionable liquor advertising which comes into our homes by radio and television

"(g) That we support the plans of National and State organizations by use of exhibits, pamphlets, films and literature in educational meetings and in schools throughout the state

"(h) That we urge the further training of teachers in the special WCTU alcohol courses

"Finally, since we have been so royally entertained by the ladies of the Tidioute Union, therefore, be it Resolved (a) That we express our appreciation to all who have shared in this responsibility. To Miss Edith Kapp, president of Warren County, and to her committee, to Rev. Good and to the congregation of Tidioute Methodist church for the use of their church building; to all who took part in the program throughout the day, to the Warren Times-Mirror and Radio Station WNAE for advertising the convention"

WSCS members held their regular September meeting in the form of an all-day work be at the home of Mrs. Marvin Kelley, with a twelve dinner served at noon to 12 persons.

During the short business session, it was reported the cook books have arrived and are for sale from any member, also that a birthday calendar is being compiled and anyone wishing birthdays or anniversaries listed should contact some WSCS member before October 17. That is the regular meeting date, and members voted to have another sewing bee for work on bazaar articles.

Several members of this group and the Thursday Evening Circle attended the Workshop sessions held at Lander Tuesday.

Today's Girls Furnish for Future

Homemakers-to-Be Buy With Adaptability in Mind

BY KAY SHERWOOD
NEA Staff Writer

MAKE way for youth in the home furnishings market. The old idea that a girl waited until after she is married to worry about her household effects is changing.

Earlier marriages, good wages from summer and part-time jobs and up-to-date high school home economics courses as well as various news media have all contributed, I think, to the upsurge of interest among homemakers of tomorrow in furnishings they plan to buy today.

I wish the critics who cluck about wild young women could have been present at discussions I had recently with girls in their late teens who were thoughtfully planning for the future.

THEY ASKED intelligent questions about trends in furniture styles and construction features.

They discussed their own preferences and budgeted purchases.

And their interest is directed primarily to bedroom furnishings which can be used at home now and later in homes of their own.

THOSE WHO LOOK AHEAD

To marriage within a year or two are interested in colorful, practical and long-wearing spreads and curtains that aren't too fussily feminine or too severe.

Some of the new plaids, in gay combinations of red and pink, yellow and gold or blue and green combine these features.

Inexpensive and generous in size, the spread can be matched to another spread hemmed into floor-length draperies. Or it can be trimmed down to make pinch-pleated curtains for the narrow strip windows seen in so many modern houses.

Furnished with an eye to tomorrow, young woman's room features pieces which will fit into her own home after marriage. Medium size mahogany desk and chair will adapt to nearly any room, plaid bedspread and matching draperies are neither too fussy nor severe. Polished brass scroll headboard for bed is distinctive and lends itself to a period or modern interior.

All of the girls say they want a "good" desk. By this they mean a style which will look all right in any room and with other types of furniture, solid construction with good storage space and the promise of years of service.

NEW, MEDIUM-SIZED desks of fine woods such as mahogany, walnut, cherry, maple or pine, finished in natural tones, are proud additions to any room.

The designs are contemporary in general but graceful proportions, handsome hardware and attention to details such as leather or plastic tops enable them to blend with other periods. "Desk chairs" carry no such label. A comfortable, straight-backed chair with upholstered seat will serve at desk or dining table or as occasional chair with equal style.

Although the bedroom suite with bed, dresser and chest, is still in top favor there is considerable interest in buying the piece, so to speak, in order to make for flexible arrangements in the future.

HIGHLY POLISHED brass headboards, for example, shine in a wide range of prices and stand alone on their decorative contribution to a bedroom. These pair with modern or traditional chests of drawers which, in turn, are proportioned for use throughout a house.

Most of the girls, however, were inclined to put off the purchase of such a major item as a chest. They would prefer to use the one provided by parents and invest in accessories.

SUMMER SAVINGS were earmarked for record players, a pretty lamp, a typewriter, linens for a hope chest or the down payment on the desk.

man Articles of a white elephant type, of small value, and costume jewelry in good condition will also be appreciated. With the operation of members will depend the success of this affair and the help of each one is important.

Business of importance also will be election of historian, due to the resignation of Rita Turner, who is moving out of town.

HOME STREET CLUB

Sallie Weiler, Warren county Youth Ambassador will tell of her trip to Apeldoorn, Holland, when she speaks before the Home Street School Parents' Club, meeting promptly at 7:30 p. m. Monday. A large turnout is urged.

"Boiled cabbage! My unfeeling recipe for dining out!"

Use Appliances to the Full

Explore Potential of Homemaking Aids

BY KAY SHERWOOD
NEA Staff Writer

DO you have a houseful of appliances, each of which you use for one purpose only? It's a fact that many of us get into a rut in our housekeeping and tend to think of a particular appliance as being limited to a specific job. A more experimental spirit sometimes turns up valuable shortcuts and more uses for appliances.

I thought, for example, I'd pretty well explored the daily uses for our old blender. Milk shakes, lump-free gravy, and the left-overs in the icebox, churned up together to enrich flavor of soups and stews and so on, I've tried successfully.

RECENTLY, when a member of the family was put on a soft, bland diet, use of the blender proved that foods prepared for the rest of the family can be pureed for the invalid and still retain their flavor.

As a change in the baby's diet, fresh fruits, vegetables and meat can be blended.

Of course, you'll want to check with your doctor, but new blender cookbooks give recipes designed for tots.

Vegetable-and-meat combinations can be blended raw, then cooked. Or you can blend cooked vegetables, fresh apples, bananas or peaches for some delicious variations.

FOR CONVENIENCE, I sometimes blend enough of freezable foods for several servings and freeze in individual portions. (Line muffin tins with foil, add the puree, cover with foil, crimped tight around the edges, freeze solid and then transfer to a plastic bag).

If you're facing up to the autumnal defrosting of the freezer, use an electric fan to blow room air into the freezer or cold air out of it to hasten the job.

And before you shroud the fan for the season, think of its possible help in drying clothes on damp days. When clothes must be hung in a small room, a fan which speeds the circulation of air and the evaporation of moisture is a definite aid.

Why brandish a rag-covered mop or broom at the nooks and spidery crannies in the basement or attic when the faithful vacuum cleaner can do the job faster and more thoroughly?

The room air conditioner is another appliance that is noted primarily for one job—its power to cool a hot room. But even in cool weather, it stands ready to help the hay fever sufferer with its filter system which traps sneeze-producing pollens.

Ridgway Rector To Be Guest Speaker At Mission Feast

The Rev. Vincent R. Browne, rector of Grace Episcopal church in Ridgway, will be guest preacher at the Evensong Service climaxing the annual Feast of St. Francis of Assisi, October 4, in St. Francis' church in Youngsville.

Rev. Brown is a native of London, Ontario, was graduated from University of Ontario, and served as chaplain in the Royal Canadian Navy in World War II. Ordained a priest in the Church of England in Canada, he later transferred to Albion, N. Y., and has been pastor at Ridgway for more than four years.

The Feast of St. Francis will begin with 7:00 a. m. Holy Eucharist, followed by Holy Communion at 10:00. Members and friends are invited to bring a tureen for the 6:00 p. m. dinner in the parish hall. Another feature of the Evensong will be the appearance of Richard A. Sidey, organist and choirmaster of Trinity church in Warren, who will be at the organ and lead the Trinity choir in singing of the service.

A St. Francis Exhibit will be arranged and the public is invited to view it and share in all the celebration festivities.

In the regular Morning Prayer service at 11:00 a. m. Sunday at St. Francis', the vicar will speak on "Everybody's Saint". Events of the coming week: Monday through Saturday, 7:00 a. m. Morning Prayer; Monday, 3:30, children's confirmation class, and 7:00, adult school of religion; Thursday, Feast of St. Francis outlined above.

Teen-Agers Who Drive Carefully Find a Champion

"THERE are just as many old fools on the road today as there are young ones," a Massachusetts judge remarked after fining a 40-year-old and a 52-year-old for racing each other at 110 miles an hour.

Those words are sure to be music to the ears of the country's teen-agers who have a reputation for recklessness that many of them don't deserve.

"Crazy kids," we say with disgust, every time we see a young person showing off behind the wheel of a car.

The remark implies that you can expect anything from a teen-age driver.

It isn't a fair attitude. No wonder the teen-agers are beginning to resent it.

Plenty of kids are skillful, careful drivers. Of course, there are some who show little concern for safety once they get behind the wheel of a car, their own or anybody else's.

But then some grownups drive cars as though they were deliberately setting out to commit murder or suicide—or both.

IT USED TO BE "WOMAN DRIVER"

BEFORE so many American homes had two-car garages and back in the days when Papa, rather than Mama, did most of the family chauffeuring, the term, "another woman driver," was a man's ready answer to any individual woman's lack of driving skill.

Now both men and women show the same kind of prejudice against teen-age drivers.

"Crazy kids" is the same kind of unfair generalization as "just another woman driver."

But bear up, kids. Maybe some day we'll quit talking about "another woman driver" and "crazy kids" and be fair enough to use the term "crazy driver" which will include drivers of all ages and both sexes who haven't enough judgment to be behind the wheel of a car.

All Are Invited For Family Night

Families of all YMCA boys are invited and urged to turn out Saturday evening for the first fall Family Night activities being arranged by a Mom's Club committee comprised of Mrs. James Ruhlman, chairman; Mrs. Paul McClain, Mrs. Theodore Tanski, Mrs. Raymond Danielson.

Swim period for the whole family will be from 7:00 until 8:00; games and refreshments from 8:00 to 9:00, giving everyone time to collect the family and be on his way home by 9:15.

A new feature this year will be the kindergarten for the little youngsters, manned by Mrs. Wade Barre, Mrs. Edward Buerkle and Mrs. Lawrence Johnson.

While some toys and equipment have been contributed for this project, more are needed, and those who wish to bring a favorite toy for this first party are asked to do so, with the privilege of taking it home when the evening is over.

Nearly Hundred at Workshop Sessions

Lander—An all-day Workshop of Warren Sub-district WSCS was well attended in the local Methodist church Tuesday, registration showing 96 present and 11 presidents on hand.

Mrs. Bruce Wright, Kane, presided at the sessions, with Mrs. Lloyd Price, Conference secretary of spiritual life, in charge of devotions. Mrs. Donald Ludwig, president of Lander WSCS, extended the welcome.

Panel discussion were in charge of district officers, who were introduced by Mrs. Wright. Topics considered were programs, finance, youth, and promotion. A talk was given by Mary Bender on "The Christian Citizen."

Following a tureen dinner served in the community house under the direction of local members, the afternoon session was convened and a talk, "Together and Equal," was given by Minnie Armstrong.

POSTMASTERS MEET

BREAK IN TRANSMISSION

The strong odor of natural gas that had alarmed the eastern part of Bradford Wednesday was traced to a break in the crude oil transmission line of the United Refining Co., in that city, according to The Era. E. J. Hughes, field foreman, said the line had been accidentally holed by the blade of an earth-mover working on Unit One of the Tuna Creek flood control project. The break in the line occurred just below the Kendall avenue bridge, he said. Contractor for the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers on the project is H. D. Osburn Co. of Franklin. The pipe carried crude oil from the Kendall avenue pump-out station to United's refinery in Warren, under 600 pounds of pressure. A quick estimate indicated that several hundred barrels of crude were lost. The break was repaired at 2 p. m. A United troubleshooting crew used big hand tongs to replace the pierced section of pipe. The pipe, recently relocated under the flood control project, runs beneath the bed of Tuna Creek.

crime. That would put an impossible distance of some 75 miles between the defendant and the scene of the crime.

It should be noted that Swartz was not apprehended until nearly eight months after the robbery, a time lag that makes pinpointing of any but the most outstanding days a difficult feat of memory. Further investigation has uncovered additional facts with which Kornreich hopes to clinch his case.

That the accused man was picked up at all is a miracle of detection. Fresh out of clues, those who thought they had seen the robber gave their impressions to an artist who drew a composite portrait. This was circulated among law enforcement agencies throughout Western Pennsylvania and New York State until one sharp-eyed trooper from the Sharon area thought he recognized the portrait as resembling a man he had arrested a short time earlier on a minor traffic violation.

Scheduled to testify along with bank manager Cyphert are Mrs. Violet Messerall of RD 2, Titusville, who has testified she is "positive" Swartz was the man who had driven past her home on the Enterprise road the afternoon before the robbery in a Buick which answered the description of the car stolen and used in the actual hold-up. She said he parked the car along the road and it remained there over night.

Other witnesses include Kenneth Kerr of Hydetown who claimed he identified Swartz as a man seen changing from a Buick to a green Plymouth shortly after the holdup.

While not positive of identification, Kerr said he and a friend were driving along a back road when a man dropped a bundle he was carrying (the holdup man was wearing railroad coveralls and cap) and as he stooped the witnesses obtained a good side glimpse of the culprit.

Two state troopers are also scheduled to testify for the prosecution.

A smashed green Plymouth of the type registered in Swartz's name was found later at a junk yard in Transfer. It has been commandeered as evidence. Shortly after Swartz was arrested he claimed he was "roughed up" by a state policeman, whose commanding officer dismissed the incident as—"The usual argument of a man accused of a crime, who has a weak case."

At the time of his arrest, Swartz appeared in the columns of the Sharon Herald for persons who would substantiate his claim that he was no where near Tidoute on the day the crime was committed. Both his home and attorney's office were swamped with calls from those offering to help.

The accused has been free on $5,000 cash bail since his hearing.

Sports Club, Inc., of Warren are invited to enter.

This organization's Red Leaf Rally is scheduled for Sunday, October 7 and it is hoped that a large number of sports car owners will drive their vehicle in the Old Fashioned Day parade. These sports cars will be the only modern entries allowed in the procession.

The Retailers Committee will meet Monday night at 5:30 p. m. in the Blue and White restaurant for their October meeting and will make final plans for the three day sales promotion event next Thursday, Friday and Saturday. The participating stores are getting ready with old time themes and clerks will be in old fashioned costumes.

Entries for the parade have come in from Tidoute, Youngsville and Jamestown and it is hoped that many area residents will come to Warren and enjoy the event. Next weekend is also Homecoming Weekend for the Sports Boosters and a festive occasion throughout the community is expected.

Kefauver

(From Page One)

The rally here was the first of a series scheduled in Pennsylvania by the Tennessee senator for the next to last day of his current cross-country political tour.

He said that Pennsylvania, with its 32 electoral votes, may well decide which party is going to control the White House for the next four years.

The state went Republican in the election four years ago, but Kefauver said a switch of less than five per cent of the votes would swing the state into the Democratic column.

Kefauver strongly endorsed Joseph C. Clark, former mayor of Philadelphia and the Democratic candidate opposing Sen. James H. Duff's re-election bid. In doing so, he took a dig at Duff.

Endorsement by the council which claims 50,000 members in Western Pennsylvania, came yesterday. It previously endorsed the Democratic presidential ticket.

The council's action was in contrast to that taken by the union's international president, Dave Beck, who came out for Duff. Beck also voiced opposition to the endorsement of the Stevenson-Kefauver ticket by the AFL-CIO council two weeks ago.

At 2:30 p. m. not long before closing time, the four men, wearing blue-striped coveralls and hidden by flesh-colored rubber masks entered the bank and shouted: "Hands up! This is a holdup." Eight minutes later, Robert W. Cummings, bank manager, estimated, they were on their way with $8,000 grabbed from the tellers' windows and shoved into a paper shopping bag and about $12,000 from a vault they forced Cummings to open.

Here's How!

One finger plays the melody. If you can't read standard music, you follow simplified "Picture" music that shows you which keys to press.

One finger plays chords. Instead of using 3 to 5 fingers, you press a button with one finger of your left hand to play full, rich organ chords.

Until you actually try the Hammond Chord Organ yourself, you probably won't believe any instrument can be this easy to play. But incredible as we know it must sound, here is the truth: Thousands who couldn't read music, who never had lessons have actually played a complete selection with full chords on the Hammond Chord Organ in a few minutes. No, not perfectly but pleasingly.

Is It Really Possible?

Spend a few minutes during your lunch hour and find out for yourself. Play it and believe your ears. That's all we ask.

Bible Words for Today

JOHN 8:31-32—"If you continue in my word, you are my disciples, and you will know the truth, and the truth will make you free." (RSV)

It is quite interesting and often disturbing to find that the Bible quotations are taken out of context. This one is a case in point—the first half is usually omitted, and the latter part is greatly emphasized. Many people seem to think that, in some mystic relation to the Christian faith, we will be given the secret of all truth and thereby be free men. Surely that is a desirable goal, but we probably miss the essential point. There is a basic condition laid down here which, if overlooked, completely nullifies the promise of truth and freedom. "If you continue in my word (or follow-ship), you are my (real) disciples," said Jesus, and that "if" condition is the root of the whole conception of spiritual truth and freedom. Without it, the sentence is an empty promise, and that is the way it seems for many people, for obvious reasons.

Professor of Religion,
Wofford College,
Spartanburg, S. C.

Scale Models of Navy Ships in Local Store

"From the days of slow-moving, wobbly cannonballs to today's many miles-a-second, guided missiles, the growth of our Navy's firepower presents a record of progress unparalleled in recorded history. This progress has resulted in many opportunities available in the Navy to young men seeking careers in the electronic field, said Chief Wimmermark at the opening of the guided missile fleet exhibit at F. W. Woolworth Store on Liberty street, Warren.

According to Chief Wimmermark the new electronic, supersonic, nucleonic Navy will develop among its men not only the scientists of tomorrow, but also the skilled craftsman and engineers so sorely needed by the nations industries. Referring to the models on display, the guided missile firing Cruiser USS Boston, the guided missile floating laboratory, USS Norton Sound, and the atom-powered submarine USS Nautilus, Wimmermark stated that they visually represent important elements of the world's most powerful fleet.

"These authentic scale models of Navy ships and planes assembled from Revell kits and designed from official Navy blueprints," said the Navy representative, "indicate the constant awareness of the heads of our Navy to every scientific advance which can be used for the protection of our nation."

Sylvania Will Recognize I. A. M. in Two Plants

An Associated Press dispatch from New York today says Sylvania Electric Products Inc. has recognized the AFL-CIO International Assn. of Machinists as bargaining agent for 1,850 employees in its plants at Mill Hall and Emporium.

The present contract was signed last spring with the United Electrical Workers (Ind.). However, the IAM said the Sylvania employees voted unanimously to switch unions. The company said yesterday all benefits of the present contract will be continued.

Chink Collins, topnotch local golfer, just lost out in a sudden death playoff in the First Annual Caprino Open Championship Golf Tourney. However, despite the lost hole to Flip Ware of Jamestown, the champ, Collins' second place was good enough for a wrist watch which is presented to him by Charles Ferrara, (above right). Ferrara is manager of Warren's Caprino TV sales store at 118 Pennsylvania Avenue, East. The tournament was played last Sunday at Randolph, N. Y.

Washington Letter

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—President Eisenhower proposed a vast, new, world-wide reconstruction program, to be paid for out of savings from disarmament, in an unnoticed passage of his first TV speech in his campaign for re-election.

White House sources point out this was really the big issue in the President's speech on peace, though he treated it somewhat casually. As a postscript to the speech, this world-aid idea is being emphasized today as the key to Eisenhower's world peace planning. It is regarded as the incentive to speed disarmament.

The idea is really not new. One sentence in the TV campaign speech was lifted word for word from the talk which President Eisenhower made to the American Society of Newspaper Editors April 16, 1953—three and a half years ago.

This is the sentence common to both speeches:

"This government is ready to ask its people to join with all nations in devoting a substantial percentage of the savings achieved by disarmament to a fund for world aid and reconstruction."

SEVERAL OTHER sentences in the later speech were picked up with only minor changes from the 1953 speech, which went into more detail. This is the way they read earlier:

"The purpose of this great work would be: To help other peoples develop the undeveloped areas of the world, to stimulate profitable and fair world trade, to assist all peoples to know the blessings of world freedom.

"The monuments to this new war would be these: Roads and schools, hospitals and homes, food and health.

"We are ready, in short, to dedicate our strength to serving the needs, rather than the fears of the world.

"We are ready, by these and all such actions, to make of the United Nations an institution that can effectively guard the peace and security of all peoples.

"I know of nothing I can add to make plainer the sincere purposes of the United States."

CRITICS of the Administration will have plenty of precedent for opposing the President's world-aid plan.

In the first place, it is pegged entirely on disarmament. Arms reduction now is considered almost unattainable.

By both Republican and Democratic opponents of all foreign aid spending, the Eisenhower peace plan is being tagged a "GOP global WPA."

What has happened now amounts to an almost complete reversal of Republican and Democratic leadership roles.

The foreign aid concept was first advanced in the Marshall Plan and President Truman's "Point Four."

But in the last Congress, when foreign aid was cut by a billion dollars, many Democrats were as outspoken as Republicans in their demands that all foreign aid be ended.

THAT THE PRESIDENT should take this particular moment to readvocate foreign aid expansion is significant.

There are both White House and congressional resurveys of foreign aid policy now under way.

Only recently President Eisenhower named Benjamin F. Fairless, retired U.S. Steel Corp. chairman, as head of a citizens' committee to make a preliminary report to the White House by December 1, on future foreign aid policy.

The fact that President Eisenhower in his first campaign speech for re-election has come out for continuing and expanding such aid is being taken as an indication that he has already made up his mind what ought to be done.

METHODIST HOME NOTES

Margaret H. McBride

September 24—Crisp fall days seem here to stay, yet this long expected first killing frost has not diminished the "Friendship" Garden in front of the Home is undiminished. The "Friendship" Garden continues to delight us, and we live between "heat on" and "heat off", though altogether, it is a lovely time of the year. Our invalids are all holding their own. One, Mrs. Margaret Reynolds, who not so long ago seemed hopelessly ill, has rallied amazingly, and this time last Sunday was able to greet and recognize a group of friends from her old home, Brookville. This interesting party included three sisters, Mrs. Fred Smith, Mrs. LaRue Pollum and Mrs. John Korb, daughters of Mrs. Margaret Eddeborn, who died very suddenly two weeks ago, a dear friend of many years of Mrs. Reynolds. With them were two other sisters, Mrs. W. W. Pollum and Mrs. J. A. Cook, who are cousins of our Mrs. S. H. Barlett, whom they called upon during their stay. All stopped in to see Mrs. Nancy Kahle, a former Brookville resident.

Mrs. Kahle's two daughters, Mrs. Madge Helrick of Brookville, and Mrs. James Wheeler, from New Castle, spent some time with her earlier in the week. Mrs. Emma Shumaker had two pleasant reunions last week when her son, Ernest and his wife came over from Punxsutawney Monday, and her other son, Robert from Blairsville, took dinner with her Sunday. Some friends of our Waterford members, Mr. and Mrs. Harley Osborn and Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Hinkson, spent Sunday afternoon visiting around. Later in the week, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Scott of Waterford, were here calling on Mrs. Maud Johnson and the Mylo Putnams. Mr. Putnam so far recovered that he was equal to coming to Chapel Sunday last. Many visitors have been in to see them this past week, among them Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Tisler, from Meadville, Mr. and Mrs. Edmond Whipple from Fairview, with Mrs. Edna Whipple and this past Sunday Mrs. Harry Putnam and Mrs. Clarie King, of Mayville, N. Y., Mrs. Pearl Gardner, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Gardner, and daughter Nancy, of Draketown, as well as Wayne Fish, Mrs. Putnam's son, all came in to see the Putnams.

Mr. and Mrs. James Sunbury of North Kingsville, Ohio, called on Mrs. Minnie Graham last week, and Mrs. Ray Woodcock from Cochran, who is also Mrs. Ada Brunson's niece, visited Mrs. Dora Blystone and Mrs. Brunson Wednesday. Miss Grace Mook also had a visitor from Warren, Miss Kate Hazeltine, and Mrs. Ida Dauberspeck had a nice call from her son and his wife, Charles Dauberspeck from Tionesta, Miss Nellie Mer-shon was happy to see Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Mer-shon from Girard on Sunday last, and Rev. and Mrs. D. E. Bloomster from Fairview called on a number of friends here. An old friend, Mrs. Mabel Nolan, came over from Greenville, and brought Mrs. Mary Reigelman and Mrs. Claude Morneweck along to see their aunt, Mrs. Alice Morneweck, and the group had dinner together here.

Miss Martha Elbel, who was a stroke victim recently, is making slow but good progress toward recovery, and is able to see visitors now. Last week, Mrs. L. E. Elbel of Grove City and Mrs. Kenneth Brown, her niece from Slippery Rock, came over, while on Sunday Miss Ruby Prampton from Slippery Rock, another niece, was here.

Mrs. Loda Hutchinson, who has had a serious eye operation recently, is now back in her own quarters, and hopeful of the full recovery of her sight. Visitors have been numerous, among them Mr. and Mrs. Edward Knott from Saegertown, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mahle, of Brocton, N. Y., also Mr. Albert Carlson, from Sugar Grove and Mrs. Leah Fornell, of Jamestown, N. Y. An old friend for many years, whom she had not seen for 15 years, Dr. Galen M. Hover, from Indianapolis, surprised her with a visit one day, and Friday last, Forestville friends were here. Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Van Rensselaer and son Bobby, with Mrs. Elva Homan.

follow on the heels of the popular thrill production, "Climax!", itself an hour production. From 8 to 10:30 p. m. Thursday CBS wants supremacy across the country's TV lanes and has gambled millions of dollars on the best writers, producers and actors to do it.

Also a top-ranking crew of press agents under the direction of Mike Kane, CBS press director on the west coast.

One of the first of the new 1 1/2-hour drama programs is scheduled to be the Perle Mesta Story with Shirley Booth in the lead role. Tony is constantly on the sets of such ranking show people as Jack Benny, Red Skelton, Bob Crosby and other multitudes on "Shower of Stars." "You need ideas," the young agent admitted, "but after a while even rehearsals of the Great become a little tiresome."

Always a fast man on his feet, Tony, when in Warren High School played with the famous Big Five of sectional championship fame and consisting of such giants as All-State Dick Harris, Neil Simmons, Chuck Regner and Jack Eaton.

He is the son of Mrs. Ann Vesco, formerly of Poplar Street, who now lives at 1706 Grismer Street, Burbank, Calif. Brother Bill also lives in Burbank and is employed by Lockheed Aircraft.

Working with ABC in New York City about two years ago as assistant director of program operations, "Vesh" said he was following a trend when he moved with the industry to California. "Just like the movies," he stated. "Start-out and grew in New York City and then went West where it was warm and beautiful."

He also commented that more and more television is being filmed and even the 15-acre, 6-year-old Television City is enlarging its lot. (As an aside, "Vesh" said the producers like "live" television to spur the actors, while sponsors like filmed products to do away with fluffs. He added the sponsors pay the bills.)

Finishing a month vacation, Tony is staying with his cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Olson on 47 Durant Avenue in Jamestown. In Warren Thursday he visited his 86-year-old grandmother, Rose-anna Vesco, 1125 Pennsylvania Avenue West.

How about the young starlets, young man?

He licked his lips and murmured, "Roxanne, that's her name. Roxanne. If you ever get a chance to see 'The Best Things in Life'—notice Roxanne Arlen." Then he added thoughtfully, "She does a dance."

Tony looked dreamily toward the West, got into his convertible and drove into the sunset.

ley, is now in the infirmary after a week's illness, but is doing very well. Sunday visitors to Mrs. Giddings were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Saunders of Ripley, Mr. Frieda Wiswell and Mrs. Marty Kelsey, from Erie. Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Foggan of Seneca came over a visit with their mother, Mrs. Gertrude Felson, last Sunday, and Dr. and Mrs. Galey from Sewickley, Pa., cousins of Mrs. Elsie Hanrahan, called on her and Miss Rebecca Hahn. Miss Harriet Koch had a friend from Franklin, Mrs. H. L. Howe, drop in for a visit Sunday too. Mrs. Anna Schultz has been able to return to her own room, but is not any too well. Saturday callers to her were her son, J. Stanley Schultz and Mrs. Schultz of Grove City, Mrs. H. M. Reece, New Bethlehem, and her two daughters, Mrs. Pearl Heckathorn, New Brighton, and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Barley.

The Mature Parent

Good Home for Children? How About One for You?
BY MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

"THREE years ago I married a widower with a little boy and a girl of 11," writes a reader. "All I wanted was to make a good home for his children and my own little girl. I've failed with my husband's daughter. She treats me like dirt, threatening to run away from home when she doesn't get what she wants. I am so worried about the bad example she gives my own child. . . ."

An older child's resentment of us can't affect younger ones if it doesn't upset us. But if we do react to it with anger, then the younger ones see that our feelings are dominated by the older child. They see that instead of controlling our feelings, we let their sister control them. In this situation, they may develop contempt for us, not because their sister feels it but because we permit her to disturb us.

PERHAPS the key to this reader's problem is hidden in her sentence "All I wanted was to make a good home for the children." This ambition puts her into a terribly dependent position. It means that if one of her children ever dares so much as hint that the home she's made is less than "good," her whole life is wasted. It means that this mother, to fulfill that ambition to make a "good home," could tolerate no criticism of it as anything but what she wants it to be.

Why can't she say, "I wanted a good home for myself as well as for my husband and children?" This could be the truth that makes her free. Nobody can be a contented person so long as he believes that wanting anything for himself is sinful. But once we can laugh at this gloomy, self-tormenting belief, new confidence in ourselves and expectations of life flow into us.

DARING to admit we want good for ourselves out of our home, we can tolerate the idea that our stepdaughter wants some good for herself out of it too. Indeed, in our grateful release from the gloomy obligation to sacrifice and suffer, we find ourselves reaching out to her to say, "What can I do to make our home seem better and pleasanter to you?"

Psychoanalyst Rollo May has written of the courage that begins to emerge from us as we "break out of the pattern of devoting our lives to getting others to admire us."

Such courage will come to this mother as soon as she knows that what troubles her is not her stepchild but her own need of that child's approval.

Greatest Woman Athlete Played HyVis Oil Basketballers in 1934

THE NONPAREIL—Miss. Babe Didrikson Zaharias became the world's greatest woman golfer after having established herself as its foremost all-around girl athlete. The Babe came out of Beaumont, Tex., in 1932 to win two Olympic championships, the 80-meter hurdles and the javelin, and to be disqualified after taking another, the high jump. She excelled at everything—basketball, tennis, swimming and diving. She held girls' mark for throwing a baseball—296 feet.

And when the great Babe Didrikson was in her prime, sports spectators in Warren felt the magnificence of her physical being in an exhibition basketball contest against Manager Jerry Archibald's Hyvis Oilers on the Monday night of March 5th, 1934.

Ballyhooed in the same Times-Mirror which blazoned the news that Dillinger had escaped with a gun carved of wood, then Sports Editor El Hildum called up everyone interested in seeing "the most famous woman athlete of our day play the forward position with 'Babe Didrikson's All Americans on the Beatty hardwood.'" (Her teammates were male).

And afterward: "Miss Didrikson played the game with all the ability of a man, her work at all times was good enough to keep her opponent busy. She is fleet as a deer on the court and she passes in a manner which at times amazed the fans. Babe scored 7 points for her team sinking three field goals and one foul (editor note: the cad). Two of her buckets were from long range and drew a big hand from the crowd."

Probably the nationally famous team of Babe's outclassed the locals for Hildum reports that "before the fans had realized it, the All Americans had a 11-0 lead" at the end of the first quarter.

Galveston, Tex., (P)—"Babe never really asked God for too much," big George sobbed.

He stood in a hospital corridor beside a stainless steel cartload of medicines, cotton pads and steel forceps. Four doors down the corridor, his wife, Babe Didrikson Zaharias, lay dying of cancer, which took her life near dawn yesterday.

"When she prayed she asked him to ease the pain of everyone... not just her own. She never asked him to win any tournaments for her... She just prayed him to let her get well and she would do the rest."

"She never wanted anything but life," big George Zaharias said, and wept silently as he looked through a window at the blue Gulf of Mexico.

By turning her tortured face only slightly, the Babe could see the Gulf, too. By now, though even the slightest movement of her head was an effort. Cancer had wasted the wondrous physique of the greatest woman athlete of the half century as sports writers called her, from 145 pounds to 80.

"Babe always lived full," George Zaharias went on. "She lived to full enjoyment. When she got sick she gave up everything as little as possible but every day she had to give up something. She loved those Swedish meatballs her sister, Lillie Gimes, used to bring her, and then she had to stop eating and they started feeding her through the veins. She liked to watch TV but finally she had to quit watching it and could only listen. Then came the day when she couldn't even listen any more, and the TV set was turned off, for good."

Later, the Babe opened her eyes and saw big George standing beside her. "I ain't gonna die, Honey," she whispered and gasped. The five words cost a great effort.

They were her final words.

The Babe returned home to Beaumont, Texas last time at mid-afternoon yesterday, some nine hours after death came while she slept peacefully in John Sealy Hospital at Galveston.

BUHL TONIGHT, SPAHN NEXT NIGHT AND WHOLE BUNCH THIS SUNDAY, SAYS HANEY

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press

This is it. Forget those past 151 games in the National League season. It's Milwaukee at St. Louis for three, Pittsburgh at Brooklyn for three—and all of them, or any one of 'em, could decide the pennant.

Milwaukee's Braves, holding the lead by one game, need a sweep against the Cards to nail it without worrying about what Brooklyn does.

"It's Bob Buhl tonight, Warren Spahn tomorrow night," says Milwaukee Manager Fred Haney, "and the whole damn bunch on Sunday."

The Dodgers, supremely confident all season that they would catch the Braves and repeat as champions, no longer can do it alone. The best they can do is sweep the Pirates and pray St. Louis can take at least one from the Braves. That would leave it a tie-calling for a best-of-three playoff beginning Monday in Brooklyn.

Manager Walt Alston sees his Dodger chances like this: "We've got to have help. If the Cards win one, we'll be all right. We haven't any reason to give up yet," but he added.

"I'm not worried about the Cardinals easing up. The thing that worries me is that we've looked pretty lousy lately."

Uncle Amos Predicts Dragon Downfall; Dragons Are Raring

By Major Amos B. Hoople
World Champion Forecaster

Egad! Some few of my zillions of readers may wonder where I got the award "world champion forecaster" which is carried above under the name of Hoople.

About 40 years ago, it was, if my memory serves me, Minnesota was picked to overwhelm Illinois by a disgraceful margin. The late Ring Lardner even picked the score to be 80 to 0. I was the only voice in the land heard in behalf of Illinois, predicting that the Illini would humble the mighty Gopher.

The Old Boy Himself

After the game Lardner bestowed upon these humble shoulders the mantle of "champion." Later this was confirmed by Knute Rockne after I picked Notre Dame to upset Army one year when all others foresaw West Point victory.

Now go on with the rest of the peerless forecast:

Pitt 21, Syracuse 13
Penn State 14, Penn 0
Navy 20, Wm. and Mary 7
Colgate 14, Cornell 7
Ohio State 27, Nebraska 6
Illinois 21, California 13
Iowa 14, Indiana 6

★ GRAYSON'S SCOREBOARD ★

This Was Year They Should Have Beaten Yanks, Brooks

BY HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

MILWAUKEE—(NEA)—This is a year when they should have beaten both the Yankees and Dodgers.

If the Brooks make the World Series again, and the blokes across the bridges give every indication that they will, the nation will say, "Ho hum!"

Country-wise baseball interest is confined to the white hot National League race. The Yankees long since have been taken for granted.

In recent trips throughout a good part of the United States, I found an even sharper early swing to high school football results and college preparedness.

The sad part of it is that if the New York and Brooklyn clubs collide again, the same old production is likely to run on and on like East Lynn, Uncle Tom's Cabin and Abie's Irish Rose.

Their more resourceful front offices have more and better replacements coming up.

TOM SHEEHAN, the Giants' chief scout, had an excellent line on the Dodgers in the spring when he called them the Nine Old Men. The Superbas had to stumble on an even older hand, 39-year-old Sal Maglie, to be where they are.

It is almost incomprehensible that the venerable Barber is their key pitcher, yet there he is. For one game, he'd be Walter Alston's selection ahead of big Don Newcombe. When the chips are down and Maglie is right, he's everybody's choice to rattle them in.

It doesn't take a mathematician to figure out just where the Flatbush outfit would be without the 16 winning games started by Maglie. Carl Erskine got off poorly, has been in and out after a good streak. Roger Craig is 12 and 10. Clean Labine was a lifesaver in relief.

DUKE SNIDER SMACKED the ball sporadically, went into long periods of drouth, was dropped to seventh in the batting order. Gil Hodges, batting .252, will fail to drive in 100 or more runs for the first time in eight campaigns. Sandy Amoros is batting .249, Roy Campanella .217. Pinch-hitting practically amounted to an All-America out until Dale Mitchell was brought on from Cleveland.

As recently as August 25, Casey Stengel told intimates that the Yankees could lose, and the Ol' Perfesser wasn't kidding.

Whitely Ford is the Bronx party's only World Series pitcher of established worth.

Manager Stengel has scraped the bottom of the barrel for pitching all the way along the route. Bob Turley, Don Larsen and Mickey McDermott disappointed. Tommy Byrne made it clear that last year's was his final fling. The proud Bombers would have been in a bad way had not Johnny Kucks and Tom Sturdivant come across. Young Ralph Terry failed to pick up any slack.

GIL McDOUGALD TURNED out to be an accomplished shortstop, but an infield switch was necessary when Andy Carey fell away at the plate. An outfield problem became more acute when Joe Collins was stricken by an attack of virus, and the situation wasn't helped when Norm Siebern, recalled from Denver, injured his wrist.

But the promising Tigers forgot to develop and the White Sox, Indians and Red Sox could not wrap together a sustained run, so here we go again, men.

The Yankees seem to go with the World Series lease!

AP Chooses Them Eenie, Meenie--- Mich. Over UCLA

By HAROLD CLAASSEN

New York (AP)—Eenie, meenie, mummy, mo; there's no harm in saying so; last week's upsets left us low; eenie, meenie, mummy, mo.

There's not much hope that the upsets will be fewer in this second list of college football picks than they were last week when such stalwarts as Notre Dame and Maryland were spilled. Last week's record: 24 correct, 9 wrong average .727.

Oklahoma over North Carolina: Coach Bud Wilkinson says the left side of the Oklahoma line is weak. But he is three deep there. This will be No. 32 in the Sooner victory skeln.

Michigan over UCLA: Michigan still has Ronnie Kramer, UCLA no longer has Ronnie Knox.

Georgia Tech over Southern Methodist: Last year Georgia Tech took this annual affair by 20-7. Should be about the same this time.

Colgate over Cornell: Colgate isn't set at end and tackle and that may be fatal against Cornell's known speed. But the home field advantage should prevail.

Illinois over California: California has learned that penalties, off or on the field, can hurt a football team.

Michigan State over Stanford: In belief that the opening whistle will cure Walt Kowalczyk's throbbing angle.

Army over VMI: Both are military colleges but Army gets the salute here.

Slipping over the East in a hurry. Navy over William & Mary, Dartmouth over New Hampshire, Penn State over Pennsylvania, Yale over Connecticut, Boston University over Massachusetts, Holy Cross over Dayton (Sunday), Columbia over Brown, Princeton over Rutgers, Pittsburgh over Syracuse.

Area Contests

Oil City 21, Warren 20

FIGHT CARD

Cleveland (AP)—Lanky Bobby Boyd of Chicago is an 8-5 favorite to extend his winning string to 10 tonight in a 10-rounder against Joey Giardello of Philadelphia at the Arena.

The middleweight scrap will be carried nationally on NBC radio and TV, starting at 10 p. m., EST.

For the 26-year-old Giardello, twice outpointed by Charlie Cotton for the only losses in his last 14 fights, tonight's bout is "one that I just got to win."

It's just as important to the middleweight ambitions of Boyd, who moved into the No. 2 spot ahead of Joey after Giardello's losses to Cotton.

Boyd had hopes that a victory tonight might earn him a crack at Sugar Ray Robinson's title in December, but yesterday Sugar Ray signed to meet Gene Fullmer of West Jordan, Utah, Dec. 12 in Madison Square Garden.

New York (AP)—With the Ray Robinson—Gene Fullmer middleweight title fight all set for Dec. 12 in New York, Promoter Jim Norris is expected to announce within the next few days the signing of Archie Moore and Floyd Patterson for the heavyweight championship in Chicago, Nov. 30.

Norris, president of the far flung International Boxing Club, wound up four months of negotiations with Robinson yesterday by getting the 36-year-old champion to agree to risk his crown against the 25-year-old Fullmer at Madison Square Garden. Broadway bookmakers made it an even fight 6-5 and take your pick.

Robinson and Fullmer will clash on a Wednesday night with home television and radio over the ABC networks New York and Philadelphia will be blacked out of TV.

Sugar Ray, a shrewd bargainer, got everything but the Garden fixtures for agreeing to take on the strong aggressive Fullmer. Ray will get 47 1/2 per cent of the gate, which Norris predicted would be a $200,000 sellout at $5 to $30 prices, and 60 per cent of the $100,000 radio-TV package. Fullmer will get 12 1/2 per cent of the gate and nothing for radio-TV. Robinson gets both fighters' share of the air receipts.

HOMES FOR AMERICANS

A HOUSE that grows with your budget, this plan can be carried out in stages. You can build it with an unfinished attic, running plumbing lines up for the future bathroom. You can add the garage and breezeway when you can afford them and finish the upstairs as your family grows. This is plan H-483AP by the Homograft Co., 11711 East Eight Mile Rd., East Detroit, Mich. The house covers 1,475 square feet, has 36,153 cubic feet with basement, and garage adds 528 square feet.

LARGE FAMILIES needing four bedrooms often find houses of this size scarce in the one-story ranch style. This plan not only has four bedrooms and two bathrooms, but it is arranged to keep the house and garage in less than 60 feet of width. This house can be built with or without a basement. Enlargement of the garage will provide additional storage space as well as a ground floor laundry and a place for a heating plant adjacent to the chimney. The house covers only 1,270 square feet, without garage and porch—an economical size. This is plan A-1711AP by Caleb Hornbostel & Associates, Architects' Home Plan Bureau, Box 141, Bethlehem, Conn.

Third Round Opens In Fight Against Higher Gas Prices

Erie—Third round of a city and county fight against higher gas prices got under way in the county courthouse today, with City Solicitor Gerald Weber laying the groundwork for a possible court appeal after the hearing procedure is completed.

"If some of the points the company is trying to make are allowed, we'll definitely go to court," the city solicitor declared.

The city attorney hopes that a fourth round of hearings will be scheduled. If so, he thinks the effective date of the gas rate increase—now set for Dec. 2—may be set back.

If not, the court appeal may also result in a delay in the effective date of the increase.

At the latest sessions, continuing through Friday, company witnesses will be cross-examined by city and county solicitors, who are opposing the increase, and attorneys for the PUC.

For the first time, the city and county lawyers will have the personal assistance of Martin T. Bennett, Washington, D. C., utility rate specialist who was retained to help map opposition strategy. He will not testify, but will aid in the questioning.

The requested increase, which would actually provide about a 50 per cent increase in operating income for the firm, was postponed by the PUC after it was filed in June. It would affect some 57,000 consumers in northwestern Pennsylvania.

Increases to small gas users, primarily home-owners, would be substantially greater than those for major users, such as industries.

Pfitzenreuter, who stands only five feet six inches and weighs no more than 158 pounds, hustled his way to a guard position in a Kansas line which, without him, averages 200. He gets in there and fights.

Mrs. Ruby Warwick, the proprietor, found Minnie's "scalp"—a bright blonde wig—in the debris and promptly glued it back in place.
